COME STUDY AT ÉSADTPM

All roads lead to Toulon

INTERNATIONAL OFFICE

The international policy of the ésadtpm is geared towards supporting the development of higher arts education in an increasingly global context and the social, environmental and political challenges associated with it. This orientation enables students to develop the flexibility to adapt to new professional and artistic environments. With the possibility to effectuate an international mobility, we aim to add an extra dimension that will enable students at our university, as well as technical, administrative and teaching staff, to broaden their professional and personal horizons and create new relationships in order to better adapt to events in a highly globalised world.

Why go abroad?

An international mobility is a unique opportunity to learn and discover other ways of learning, working and living. A semester or an internship abroad is not only an asset for the CV, but is also personally enriching.

To find out more about the impact of international mobilities, take a look at the testimonials of our students who have gone abroad.
